

[psalm]

keep, love, the door of my lips and for this lion weep selah my faults poured as cups unto these, which lighted so lent little read from some breviary of birds, psallite, o dearest heart as your breath is knitted to mine, then, unknow