

[psalm]

my brightest love, who suffers by twelve such stars these dozen names for grace    cindered, from flag collapse to ash, these throats joined    gutbound so and too decry false all pain, or this again by just veil bending hand    some latter dark, antiphon now sky