what hearts   I shattered what mothers   I shattered what homes what names I shattered if I remember it all // write every all it will not be unshattered